Realogy partners with Junior Achievement to bring the “economics of life” to local students

Madison, NJ – Realogy has partnered with Junior Achievement of New Jersey (JA-NJ) to provide financial literacy and economic educational programs to students in Madison. On Thursday, December 6th, as part of a JA In-a-Day program, 26 employee volunteers from Realogy visited 14 classrooms at Kings Road Elementary School in Madison, NJ and team-taught the JA curriculum to 268 students in grades one through six.

The Realogy volunteer role models provided these children with an interactive, colorful and information-rich curriculum produced and supplied by JA. These volunteers gave of their time and themselves, teaching and connecting with the students. They taught about business, economics and life skills while instilling confidence and driving home the economic value of a diploma.

"We are thrilled to receive volunteer support from Realogy. These volunteers have served as role models while imparting their experience and financial knowledge to students who are starting to learn the value of personal financial literacy and the economics of life," said Catherine Milone-Richards, President of Junior Achievement of NJ.

"This was a great experience and we learned as much from the students as I hope they did from us," said Dave Weaving, chief administrative officer of Realogy and a JA-NJ board member.

"We're proud to be associated with Junior Achievement of New Jersey."
